OXALIC ACID
RUST REMOVER

THE WHITE CRYSTAL
KNOWN AS OXALIC ACID DIHYDRATE DISSOLVES IN WATER

OXALIC ACID

Is frequently used as a bleaching or cleaning agent, particularly to remove rust (iron complexing agent). End use:

- ✓ RUST REMOVERS
- ✓ BOAT CLEANING
- ✓ ACID CLEANERS
- ✓ ANODIZING OF ALUMINUM
- ✓ PESTICIDE
- ✓ BLEACH
- ✓ CATALYST
- ✓ CHROME
- ✓ COLOR COATING
- ✓ LAUNDRY SOUR
- ✓ LEATHER
- ✓ METAL CLEANERS
- ✓ PAINT STRIPPERS
- ✓ RADIATOR CLEANERS
- ✓ REDUCING AGENT
- ✓ SOLDERING FLUX
- ✓ TEXTILE BLEACHING
- ✓ TILE CLEANERS
- ✓ WELDING FLUX

HOW DOES OXALIC ACID WORK?

Oxalic Acid is useful in water treatment and rust removal because of its ability to bond with minerals such as calcium and iron due to its effectiveness as a chelating agent.

CAUTION:

Oxalic Acid has many advantages. However, it should be used carefully since it can burn skin and eyes. When using this product, always use the proper safety gear and carefully observe all usage directions

GENERAL INFORMATION AND INSTRUCTIONS

WHAT IS RC-300?

The crystalline shape and harsh, acidic taste of oxalic acid set it apart as a basic dicarboxylic acid. It is recognized as an ACS Grade chemical, which means that it satisfies the American Chemical Society's purity requirements. This makes it perfect for use in high-precision industrial and academic applications.

HOW DOES RC-300 WORK?

When crystalline white and well-dissolved in water, RC-300 is a somewhat acidic substance in its pure form. RC-300 is useful in water treatment and rust removal because of its ability to bond with cations such as calcium and iron due to its effectiveness as a chelating agent.

WHAT ARE THE APPLICATIONS WHERE RC-300 CAN BE SUCCESFULLY APPLIED?

It can be used to remove calcium deposits and heavy metals from wastewater due to its chelating capabilities. Furthermore, wood and textiles are bleached and cleaned using it.

HOW IS RC-300 SOLD?

RC-300 is sold by: 4 oz, 1lb, 2lb, 4lb, 55lb.

CAUTION:

RC-300 has many advantages. However, it should be used carefully since it can burn skin and eyes. When using this product, always use the proper safety gear and carefully observe all usage directions
